ABOUT THE AUTHOR

James J. Bohning is professor of chemistry emeritus at Wilkes University in Wilkes-Barre, PA. Since leaving Wilkes, he has been Director of Oral History at the Chemical Heritage Foundation in Philadelphia and a science writer for the News Service group of the American Chemical Society in Washington, DC. He is currently a visiting research scientist and CESAR Fellow at Lehigh University, Bethlehem, PA 18018 and has been the HIST historian for almost twenty years.

HIST MISSION STATEMENT (2007)

The Division of the History of Chemistry (HIST) of the American Chemical Society (ACS) seeks to advance knowledge and appreciation of the history of the chemical sciences among chemists, students, historians of science, and the broader public by

- Encouraging research and scholarship in history of the chemical sciences;
- Providing a welcoming environment for the discussion of history of chemistry in a variety of venues, particularly in symposia at national ACS meetings;
- Serving as a resource for chemical scientists in general, and members of the ACS in particular, who seek to understand the roots of their discipline, sub-discipline, or interdisciplinary subject;
- Recognizing major achievements from the past in the chemical sciences and the individuals who made those achievements;
- Publishing a scholarly journal in history of chemistry;
- Interacting with other organizations interested in the history of science; and
- Adding value to the ACS by helping it achieve its vision and missions.
